From the Bethel Town Office

The Board of Selectmen met in regular session Monday evening, Jan. 12, in the meeting room of the Bethel Savings Bank.

The Selectmen met with Bethel Water District Trustees Donald E. Bennett and Robert Saunders, Superintendent Richard Enright, Water District Counsel Mary Anne Smith, and Newry Selectman Steve Wight to discuss proposed state legislation to revise the present charter of the Water District. The proposed legislation would increase the size of the Board from three to five members and make the positions elective rather than being appointed by the Selectmen. The bill would also clarify District management responsibilities and deal with the District's tax exempt status.

The Selectmen approved using past pictures of the Common on the front and back covers of the Annual Town Report, authorized the manager to work out an agreement with Dr. Wayne Gersen, S. A. D. #44 Superintendent of Schools, for the possible use of the school bus garage to house the Town's backup ambulance, authorized the manager to look into the use of a waste oil heater as a means of cutting heating costs at the Town Garage and voted as in past years, not to include an article in the Town Meeting Warrant to provide financial assistance to the Rumford Community Hospital.

The Board of Selectmen will meet next Monday evening, Jan. 19, at 7 o'clock in the meeting room of the Bethel Savings Bank. Agenda items will include a public hearing on the proposed uses of General Revenue Sharing Funds in 1981, consideration of a Virtual License application from Sheila and Richard Waterhouse d/b/a the Edelweiss Country Store, consideration of 1981 Tax Anticipation Loan Bids, and beginning discussions on items in the 1981 Town Budget.

The 1981 Municipal Election and Town Meeting dates have been set for March 16 and 17. The election will be held Monday, March 16, and Town Meeting will be on Tuesday evening, March 17. Nomination papers are now available for six positions: two Selectmen, two Assessors, and two members of the M. S. A. D. #44 Board of Directors. The nomination process is quite simple and starts by obtaining the papers from the Town Office, obtaining the signatures of at least 25 Bethel registered voters and returning the papers to the Town Office by the close of business on Monday, Feb. 9, 1981. The papers may be circulated by the candidate or designated representative. Any information pertaining to the positions may be obtained by calling the Town Office. Voters may only sign as many nomination papers as there are positions to be filled. Voters may sign only two sets of Selectmen, Assessors, and School Directors papers. Voters signing more than two sets of nomination papers for any office invalidates his/her name on all sets.

As of Jan. 13, John T. Grover has taken out nomination papers for the position of Selectman. No nomination papers have been taken out for either the Assessors or the positions on the M. S. A. D. #44 Board of Directors.

WOODSTOCK HISTORICAL SOC. SEARCHES FOR ARTIFACTS

The recent meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society was quite eventful. The speaker for the evening was John B. Auchmoody, a former administrator of Sturbridge Museum and the Shaker Village at Canterbury, N. H. Mr. Auchmoody reminisced about his years as a museum administrator. He discussed exactly what the various roles of a museum are, and he recounted interesting anecdotes about his travels in behalf of the museum in Italy, Greece, and the two Chinas. He also focused on the problem of sales for a museum.

After the meeting the society members toured the new museum the society has begun in the annex to the Woodstock Elementary School. Among the new acquisitions obtained are old photographs of area businesses and residents, some business signs, old postcards and billheads, and an organ from the South Woodstock Church. The society is now searching for artifacts of several different kinds. The museum needs old photographs, old signs and tools, old hooks on Maine, literature, or children's books, old postcards, billheads, and newspaper articles, and copies of such publications as "DownEast," "Yankee," "Maine Life," and "BitterSweet." Old furniture or antiques would also be appreciated. Anyone in the area having such materials should call Bryant Pond 142.

Area residents are cordially invited to meetings of the society, which are held every second Friday of the month at 7:00 in the elementary school. At the next meeting Curator Larry Billings will make a presentation on Old Masters.

TELSTAR 57-54 WINNER OVER GOULD TUESDAY IN BOYS' HOOP ACTION

Telstar perked up its basketball fortunes Tuesday night with a hard-fought 57-54 triumph over in-town rival Gould Academy.

It was the first meeting of the season between the Huskies and Rebels, and gives Telstar a 2-5 record while Gould falls to 4-2. Brent Douglass, who also pulled down 18 rebounds, made nine of 13 free throws including some clutch ones toward the end to preserve the Telstar victory.

Both squads were sharp from the foul line, Telstar making 15 of 19 attempts and Gould 12 of 15. The Rebels took a 42-40 edge into the fourth quarter. They raised the margin to seven points with just 3:23 to play, but the Huskies came back with eight unanswered points for a one point lead.

At that point, Gould missed a shot and fouled on the rebound. Douglass made both free throws with 22 seconds left, then Jeff Bartlett added two more for the final outcome.

The teams had started slowly, each scoring eight points in the John Holmes scored 13 points in the junior varsity game leading Telstar to a 47-35 victory, its fifth in eight outings.

SEN. SUTTON CO-SPONSORS LEGISLATION FOR "PERIOD OF SILENCE" IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

An act to provide for a period of silence in public schools for prayer or meditation has been co-sponsored in the Maine Legislature by State Senator Roland L. Sutton, R-Paris.

The proposed statute reads as follows: "At the commencement of the first class of each day in all grades in all public schools the teacher in charge of the room in which such class is held shall announce that a period of silence not to exceed one minute in duration shall be observed for meditation and no activities engaged in."

This bill incorporates an identical provision that was held constitutional by a federal District Court in Massachusetts.

Introduced by Senator Thomas R. Perkins, R-Blue Hill, the proposed statute has also been co-sponsored by Senator Walter W. Hichens, R-Eliot, and Senator Melvin A. Shute, R-Stockton Springs.

The Eleanor Gordon Guild will be meeting on Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Judy Barker.

ALIENS MUST FILE ADDRESS REPORT FORMS IN JANUARY

A. A. Poulin Jr., District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service urges all aliens in Maine who have not yet filled out alien address report forms, to do so before Jan. 31, 1981, at the nearest Immigration and Naturalization Service Office or local Post Office.

The Immigration Officials pointed out that the law requires all non-citizens, except persons in diplomatic status and foreign representatives to certain international organizations, such as the United Nations, to report their addresses to the Government each January.

Mr. Poulin added: "The parent or legal guardian of an alien child under 14 years of age must fill out the address report form for such a child in order to comply with the law."

He declared: "We have tried to make it as convenient as possible for non-citizens to meet the address report requirements, and, in view of serious penalties for willful violation, all persons subject to the address report are urged to fulfill this obligation before the end of January."

Mr. Poulin advised: "It is easy for an alien to meet this requirement. He just goes to the nearest Immigration and Naturalization Service Office or Post Office, fills out the address report form, and returns it to the clerk. Any non-citizen who is ill may send a friend or relative to obtain the card for him, place a stamp thereon and mail it after it has been completed by the alien."

The Immigration Official said that 18,000 aliens in Maine already have filled out address reports. He estimated that more than 21,000 such reports will be submitted before Jan. 31, 1981.

At this time, all aliens in the United States as well as any prospective employer of an alien who is in the United States, are also placed on notice that the issuance of a Social Security account card to an alien is not evidence of legal permission from the Government for the alien to be employed in the United States. As a general rule, only those aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence (lawfully resident immigrants) may work in the United States. Under certain emergency conditions aliens who have been admitted for a temporary stay in the United States (non-immigrants), and who have been granted specific authorization in writing from the Immigration and Naturalization Service, may work in the United States.

Any other alien found working in the United States in violation of the law is subject to penalties established by the Immigration and Nationality Act, including enforced departure from the United States.

In view of the concern expressed by national state leaders on the need to provide more job opportunities for the unemployed, including returning veterans, any prospective employer having questions concerning the legal right of aliens to accept employment should contact the nearest office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, U. S. Department of Justice, Poulin said.

— Mrs. Colisia Morgan, Corres. —

When I went to bed there was no sign of snow. Looking out the kitchen door all I could see was an overclouded darkness, no sound, no wind, no stars. But some time in the night, a howl of wind reached me in my dreams, so I got up quietly, switched on the garage light to see how things were, now that the wind had risen. Sure enough the snowflakes were swirling, slanting, and eddying through the air. At this time very little had fallen, I went back to bed and to sleep.

A vagueness of light began to appear. The snow passed in a strange wavering curtain whose height was concealed in the mystery overhead. The weather reports warned of a storm watch and we pictured a wild day. Then came the "no school" announcements. I thought back to the many times I walked or skied the three miles from home to my school house in the early years of my teaching, when just such storms came.

Well, it later turned to a rosy morning full of vast silence. The temperature climbed higher than it had for days. What a relief to get into my hiking clothes and do some walking.

With so little snow I decided I'd first try the Bulldozer Road between the evergreens. Here also were gray trees and brown together with white birches rising among them.

Rusty autumn could be seen in places along the borders of the road and fields.

Glimmering snow bent some branches and pegged them to the earth. They were spangled where the sun hit them.

At the last rise an apple tree had lost its footing and stretched across the road. An apple or two still held tightly to another tree beside it.

I now faced the gate to the farm fields against the eastern sky. The sun shone, there was no sound, and I stood staring at the ridge of the purest, white snow and shadows of blue. These blues of winter vary with the day and the light. But whatever the tone, one is reminded of certain blues of flowers.

Across the pond I noticed the chimney smoke suddenly thicken and grow heavier; someone had just put a fresh stick on the fire.

The weeds by the old cellar hole moved and swayed with the breeze.

I looked down upon the farm buildings surrounded by the beauty of the hills then I turned toward home. The whole valley lay quiescent in the cup of winter's hand.

I heard a single screaming call across the wilderness of the snow. A blue jay.

Ahead of me I noticed that my path and foot prints had become gray in color. Leaning close I saw that the bottom of each depression was covered with a sprinkling of black pepper. I watched. There was a constant motion. I recognized them as springtails or snow fleas. I picked up a few on a pad of snow. At once they exploded into the air. These tiny creatures had released the hairlike projection which had been locked into place so they were catapulted into the air. They have no wings yet rise into the air and they jump like a flea but have no jumping legs. The six legs they have are used for laborious crawling.

It had been a refreshing hike but I found it pleasant to get home and find the house warm, sunlit, and the last stick of wood glowing in the kitchen stove.

On Tuesday afternoon Club Eight met at my home. We missed Anna Jarvenpaa and Evelyn Tamminen, both of whom were recovering from the flu.

In spite of the cold, the ice fishermen, snowmobile riders, and trappers have been plentiful this week. They really enjoyed the one warm day.

NEWS FROM ADULT AND COMMUNITY EDUCATION

— M. S. A. D. #44

The schedule for S. A. D. #44 Adult and Community Education courses set to begin the week of Jan. 26 is printed elsewhere in this issue of the Bethel Citizen. To enroll in these courses, one should call the Adult and Community Education office 824-2136 between the hours of 8:30 and 2:30 weekdays.

A complete listing of all Winter/Spring classes and programs will be printed in brochure form for distribution the week of Jan. 26, with registrations for classes set to start in February to be accepted after Jan. 26.

The Sociology course planned by University of Maine-Augusta for the Spring term will not be offered because of insurmountable difficulties in gaining departmental approval for an instructor. Frank Antonucci, of the UMA Lewiston-Auburn Center, has already been in contact with the local Adult Education office to begin planning for possible offerings in Bethel at a later time, and hopefully with extra time, the next effort will be successful. Anyone interested in assisting in the College Credit Course project is asked to contact the Adult Ed. office.

One of the special programs scheduled for the coming term is a GED preparation course offered by Ann Holt. This class will meet at Telstar Thursday nights and will involve administration of the pretest, tutoring in areas of weakness, and the administration of the GED exam. This class is open to individuals over 17 years of age. Those interested should contact the Adult Ed. office. The GED prep service will be continued through mid-May with students joining and leaving the class at anytime during the term, depending upon their level of readiness to take the GED exam.

STATE OF MAINE

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Jan. 10, 1981

The 110th Legislature returned to Augusta this week after having attended to the organizational activities in early December. This was the first legislature required by the new Constitutional amendment to convene in December. The intent of this amendment is to expedite the legislative process by conducting necessary housekeeping duties, swearing-in ceremonies and to initiate new members with their responsibilities.

I have been assigned to serve on the Joint Standing Committee on Taxation as the senior ranking Republican. The Committee on Taxation has jurisdiction over all proposed legislation dealing with Property, Sales, and Use, Business, Motor Fuel, Income and other Special Taxes.

$8 Million Needed to Keep Store Open

The Governor submitted a supplemental budget to the Legislature Wednesday calling for an additional $8 million for the state's current fiscal year. These funds are needed to cover the increased cost of running several state programs — especially Medicaid and the Maine State Prison—and to offset the loss of $6.6 million in federal revenue sharing.

Rodney Scribner, Commissioner of the State Department of Finance and Administration, said the additional budget request is two to three times higher than what the administration traditionally seeks. Scribner explained several factors came into play here, such as the $6.6 million in revenue sharing money from the federal government which the state planned on receiving but which Congress eliminated for states last year, leaving Maine to pick up the tab. Due to the skyrocketing hospital and doctor bills, the state also found itself short in the amount it budgeted for Medicaid. About another $860,000 in spending can be attributed to the "lock down" effort at the Maine State Prison and to the opening of a new correctional center at Charleston.

There are also additional programs which need assistance to get through this fiscal year which ends on June 30.

For example, Mental Health and OSUT in a 12 week period combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field mine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualifies the soldier as a light weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

OXFORD POMONA GRANGE

Oxford Pomona #2 met with Bear Mountain Grange, South Waterford, Tuesday night. Bear Mountain served a bountiful supper before the meeting. There was a small crowd because of the cold weather and promise of a snow storm starting that night. The meeting was opened by the Master, Lewis Marcotte. The Lecturer and Secretary were absent. Evelyn Jackson filled in for the Lecturer and presented the following program: Battle Hymn of the Republic, sung by all; Address of Welcome, Glen Chute; Response Lewis Bisbee. The Master, Lewis Marcotte, gave his report for the State Grange Session. Closing Song, Bless Be The Tie, sung by all.

The next meeting will be held at Pleasant Pond, West Sumner, Feb. 3, and will be observed as Agricultural meeting.

Corrections wants another $300,000 for its community mental retardation services. The Secretary of State's office needs $125,000 to defray costs of several referendum questions which were held last year and the Dept. of Human Services needs $231,000 for its child welfare services.

Scribner has suggested the increased spending can be financed from the surplus remaining at the end of the state's fiscal year last June.

Upton

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —

It is a joke here that we see other residents more often when we go out of town than we do at home. It held true again Monday morning in Colebrook when we saw a couple of people we hadn't run into in Upton for some time.

The weather stays frigid but the trend has changed in that we have been warmer than surrounding areas. Usually this is a forerunner of a storm but no luck yet.

For some reason the wood stove in the church emits more smoke and creosote than heat. For this reason church was not held for the second week in a row.

The Lavasseurs were entertained for a social hour at Brennon's.

Some Errol folk came over for the service and visited at Heritage Farm.

Kathy Bernier celebrated her 21st birthday on Monday. Several joined in sending her a card shower.

I enjoyed a call from Ruth McInvale of Tallahassee, Fla., Sunday. Ruth spent a couple of summers in Upton a few years back and she invited me to visit her. At 12 below and a blizzard wind here it sounded tempting.

NAZARENE TEENS ATTEND SPORTS TOURNAMENT

On Jan. 2 and 3, several teens from the Church of the Nazarene in Bethel took part in the Maine District Church of the Nazarene NYI Christmas sports tournament held this year in Wiscasset. Other first place winners in the tournament were: boys' basketball, Millinocket; girls' volleyball, South Portland; cheerleading, Wells. Rev. Barry Beverage, pastor of the Bethel Church is the district sports coordinator.

In February, the teens will be competing again in the district sports finals at which time all stars will be selected in the various sports. They will then attend the Festival of Life in March at Eastern Nazarene College, Quincy, Mass., where they will compete against teens from New England, two New York State districts, Virginia, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia District and Pittsburgh District.

The Municipal Officers have completed work on the Annual Town Report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1980 and sent it to the printers. The year ended with all accounts either balancing off, or showing an unexpended balance.

Unexpended balances in all accounts totaled $45,565.04. These balances will be carried forward to their respective accounts to reduce the 1981 tax commitment. The Selectmen have held their budget to a 2.1% increase over 1980. However, a substantial increase is expected in the school budget and the County Tax. Total receipts for the year ending Dec. 31, 1980 were $194,906.23, with $174,720.76 paid out in Selectmen's warrants, leaving a balance of $20,185.47. In addition there are $52,550.94 in invested funds. From a total tax commitment of $109,093.40 uncollected taxes at the year end totaled $6,502.34. Of this amount $1,471.99 were resident and $5,030.35 non-resident. Tax Liens held by the Town, Jan. 1, 1980 were $2,741.51, with an additional $1,473.82 placed during the year. Of these liens $3,069.73 were paid, leaving $1,456.00 unpaid Dec. 31. Total resources at the close of books were $85,149.61 with $891.19 in liabilities for a balance of $84,258.42. Town officials were able to get through the year without taking out any loans.

The Newry Mothers Club met at Linda Yates Monday evening. They gave a personal shower for Lillian Lowell. The Cookbook Committee will meet Friday, Jan. 16, at 1:30 at Brenda Bartholomew's.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ridlon Bridgton, were week end guests of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Tripp.

MAINE DANCE UMBRELLA '81 AT UMO FEB. 4-7

Four days of performances, master classes and demonstration lectures will emphasize the growth of dance in Maine Feb. 4 to 7 at the University of Maine at Orono. Maine Dance Umbrella '81 will recognize Maine's dance ensembles and companies as well as solo dance performers. It is hoped the event will become an annual one of major consequence in the state. Four evening public performances are scheduled at the Hauck Auditorium on the Orono campus. They will start at 8 p.m. A lecture-dance demonstration is planned for Friday, Feb. 6, at 10 a.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium featuring the Ralph Robinson Concert Dance Company.

EMT'S RECOGNIZED AS EQUAL IN ME.

N. H., R. I., AND CONN.

Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut have signed an agreement recognizing that an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) trained and licensed in one state will be recognized in all states, according to Robert F. Tredwell, director, Emergency Medical Services, Maine Department of Human Services.

"This agreement helps the EMT who moves to another state," he says. "As all six New England states have similar tests and requirements, it eliminates duplication and delay in allowing EMT's to resume public service. Both the states and the EMT's will benefit from this agreement."

This is the first multi-state agreement of its kind in the nation. Currently, Massachusetts and Vermont have not formally signed due to legal problems. Their Emergency Medical Services Program directors have expressed a willingness to be part of the agreement as problems are resolved.

For the Humanities: $67,071 to the Maine State Museum in Augusta for the "12,000 Years in Maine" project.

From the National Science Foundation: $16,127 to the University of Maine at Orono for collaborative research into the interactive chemistry of marine dissolved organic matter; $29,500 to UMO for a study of the structure, composition and thermal properties of solid surfaces; $58,910 to UMO for a study of the disintegration of the Late Wisconsin Northern Hemisphere Ice Sheets.

From the National Endowment for the Arts: $300,000 to the Portland Museum of Art for new construction and programs.

From the Department of Agriculture (FmHA): $41,000 in loans to Carrabassett Valley for the purchase of fire equipment.

From the Department of the Navy: $25 million to Bath Iron Works for a FFG-7 Class propulsion system trainer for the Naval Training Center in Chicago.

Added to the National Register of Historic Places: The Jon Lund Site in Kennebec County.

From the Community Services Administration: $165,000 to the Washington - Hancock Community Agency for administration costs.

The Good Word from the Bible

... a weekly inspirational message for today's life-styles...

And one of the company said unto him, Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me. And he said unto him, Man, who made me a judge or a divider over you? And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth. St. Luke 12: 13-15

Many times, in the life of Christ upon earth, we are made to realize that the wealth and luxuries of this world are of little importance.

Christ reminded us all that we should not spend a lifetime gathering about us personal riches but, instead, seek the kingdom of God.

This should not be interpreted to mean that every man must be poor and without ambition. What it does mean is that we should put God first in our lives and avoid the covetousness which often turns friend against friend and brother against brother.

SALES OF PRECIOUS METALS MAY BE TAXABLE INCOME

Taxpayers who sell single items and collections of gold, silver and other precious metals at a profit must report the gain on their Federal income tax returns, J. J. Jennings, District Director of the Internal Revenue Service in Maine, has said.

For example, if an individual, other than a dealer, sells a gold or silver coin, or tableware of precious metal for more than the original cost, the profit is taxable as a capital gain. The profit is generally the difference between the purchase price and the selling price.

Profits made by dealers in precious metals are taxable as ordinary income, Mr. Jennings adds, and are not subject to capital gains treatment.

As in any business transaction, good records are a necessity when dealing in precious metals. The documented dates and the amount of purchase price and sales price, and a description of the item are needed to determine if the profit is a long-term or short-term capital gain. The sale of a capital asset after a 12-month holding period is considered long-term and is subject to a lower tax than short-term capital gain, which applies when the holding period is 12 months or less.

Persons needing further information on the sale and purchase of precious metals and their tax treatment should contact the IRS or the taxpayer assistance toll-free

To the Editor:

Last week the school board rejected a grant application requested by the Talent and Gifted committee. The teachers already have done their utmost to meet the needs of every child in their classrooms, an almost impossible task because each child has different abilities. We are fortunate to have teacher aides who help children with difficulties in learning. Yet, the children who are gifted or talented in a certain area are left on their own "because they can take care of themselves."

Students drop out of school because they are bored and see education as a waste of their time. These students are not only those who have trouble learning, but also those who are not challenged enough. What a waste of resources!

Education is supposed to make the most of every child's ability. Can we afford to throw away the talents which children in our community possess? I urge the members of the school board and the committee to have another look at the report. Perhaps with some compromises a way can still be found to fulfill the committee's goal.

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST

Dear Doris, Bill and Rebecca—not to forget Bozo the Beagle: Christmas became real to us, Grandpa and me—the way it happened—we'll tell in story form; "Grandpa's old slippers."

Breaking in a new pair of shoes till they fit real good and get comfortable—like "Grandpa's old slippers" takes time—even like people as they grow, learning and developing it fit a pattern of life that suits them—later on wondering if they didn't settle for something less than we could have had.

Our hound dog sits by the wood stove keeping warm—snoozing, tired in his old bones—whimpers and twitches as if dreaming about the good old days when he gave rabbits a merry chase—Gramps would laugh and they came home to rest by the warm stove—Grammy brings hot chocolate and smiles—she takes care of the "old warriors."

Our dog comes from a string of hounds and sometime, maybe soon—will take leave—even as he snores he doesn't realize that one day his sun will set. Grandpa the sentimentalist, wipes a tear—hm, one day he too must leave and mystery wells up inside him—what of Grammy, his childhood sweetheart? Thoughts go tumbling through his mind—he has lived a long time. The afternoon sun reaches him and he settles to a nap.

A chill awakens him as the sun sets—it abruptly brings him to the realization that the day is ending—where did it go? Even as several score years have flown by—there're children grown up—grandchildren and money in the bank—but, that's all it is? Suddenly like a glaring billboard—the Preacher's favorite Bible verse seems to stare at him "ye must be born again." Strange it sounds so real—saying it aloud—Grandma hears and says—yes, it's true—my mother taught me that as a child—"Jesus said—Except that a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." Daddy, it's about time we settled it, once and for all! Lets you and me pray—right here and now!

"Thank you God for Rebecca who prays to you—please God, now hear us—forgive us the years of letting you pass by—we need you so very much—take us now into your hands and let us be 'born again.' Amen."

And, that dear Doris is what happened—thanks to Rebecca and the letters you sent. We feel so free—life has just begun—we've been "born from above" into God's family. Please tell Jane and Bob. Love—Mom and Dad.

TODAY'S ANSWER

THE ANSWER

TO THE EDITOR:

Well, here we are in the quiet western mountains of Maine. For how long? According to an article in the Lewiston Daily Sun, Jan. 10, the Air Force is proposing to use our area for "regular, low altitude training flights," and to designate it a "Military Operating Area." They propose to use the low flying aircraft two to four hours per day, six days a week, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

What will this do to the many of us who have chosen to live in this quiet area? How about the wild life? And what about the tourist trade—those who come here to escape just such noise in the first place? The aircraft will be coming from bases in New York and Massachusetts. Let them train there, where noise pollution already prevails. We urge all concerned citizens to contact or write your elected representatives, at any level, and urge that this invasion of our quiet hillside not take place.

To the Editor:

It seems kind-of-funny, that in the middle of the winter, people seem to drive the speed limit on Paradise to protect themselves. But as soon as the snow melts, and the roads are bare, they seem to think that they can exceed the limit. But they seem to forget one thing, they are not so much apt to get in an accident. But they seem to forget that the children come out in the spring. Are you too much of a sadist that you wouldn't care

To the Editor:

Last week the school board rejected a grant application requested by the Talent and Gifted committee. The teachers already have done their utmost to meet the needs of every child in their classrooms, an almost impossible task because each child has different abilities. We are fortunate to have teacher aides who help children with difficulties in learning. Yet, the children who are gifted or talented in a certain area are left on their own "because they can take care of themselves."

Students drop out of school because they are bored and see education as a waste of their time. These students are not only those who have trouble learning, but also those who are not challenged enough. What a waste of resources!

Education is supposed to make the most of every child's ability. Can we afford to throw away the talents which children in our community possess? I urge the members of the school board and the committee to have another look at the report. Perhaps with some compromises a way can still be found to fulfill the committee's goal.

SEN. WILLIAM COHEN

From Washington

A group of citizens in Maine is currently trying to place a referendum on a future ballot that would implement an indexing mechanism for state income taxes, if a majority of Mainers agreed. Nine states currently use an indexing mechanism to erase "taxflation" from annual personal income tax payments.

The Senate, too, may consider an indexing plan for federal income taxes. I co-sponsored the measure introduced by Senator Robert Dole (R-Kansas), which he offered as the first piece of legislation in the 97th Congress. This tax reform has been gaining supporters recently as one effective method for reducing the unfair tax burden on America's wage earners.

"Taxflation" occurs when a cost of living increase pushes a taxpayer into a new bracket, thereby forcing him to pay a larger and larger percentage of his gross salary in income taxes. This produces a yearly windfall in tax revenues for the federal government. Congress benefits from the windfall by being able to avoid legislated tax increases, while being assured of more money with which to finance the federal bureaucracy.

In effect, we see Americans suffering not only from double-digit inflation, but also from double jeopardy inflation; that is, trying to remain abreast of spiraling prices by earning higher salaries, and then paying an inflation tax on those new wages. Inflation penalizes American families twice.

To erase the inflation tax, an indexing mechanism would adjust personal income tax scales to reflect the annual rate of inflation, as measured by the consumer price index. Under the Senate bill, tax rates, the personal exemption, and the zero bracket amount would be adjusted to reflect the inflation rate of the previous year. For example, if the inflation rate for 1980 were 10%, the personal exemption would rise from $1,000 to $1,100.

Consider just how ravaging the inflation tax for 1981 will be. According to the Joint Committee on Taxation, taxation will increase federal tax revenues this year by about $20 billion. Generally, the federal government can expect an additional $1.5 billion to $1.9 billion in new tax revenues for each percentage point increase in the inflation rate.

I would add that this tax windfall is not distributed equally among all taxpayers, but rather is concentrated among middle income wage earners. The inflationary impact on tax payments is reflected in a decreasing savings rate among this income group, which not only erodes an individual's future economic stability, but

FIRE RELATED DEATHS DOWN FIRST NINE MONTHS OF 1980

Fire related deaths are down for the first nine months of 1980 compared to the same period last year.

As of Sept. 30, the State Fire Marshal reports 22 people died as a result of fire, compared to 37 fire deaths recorded during the same time period for 1979.

"The significant decrease in lives lost by fire can be attributed to the fire safety and preventive programs conducted by the State's insurance industry, fire service and government agencies, the outstanding cooperation from the news media, and to a relatively mild winter," said State Fire Marshal Don Bisset of the Maine Department of Public Safety.

Bisset said more than 200 wood burning safety awareness meetings were held throughout Maine last fall in an effort to inform the public on the importance of proper installation and use of wood-burning appliances, as well as to the life saving characteristics of smoke detectors.

However, the State Fire Marshal said, "We can't rest on this reduction in fire deaths, we must continue to keep the citizens of Maine alert to the hazards associated with wood and coal stoves along with related equipment, such as chimneys, and to the demonstrated saver of lives—the smoke detector."

also a prime source of investment capital in the United States.

Indexing, by itself, cannot cure inflation, but it could have a positive effect on keeping inflationary wage increases down. Without indexing, a worker realizes that a wage increase that just keeps pace with inflation will push him into a higher tax bracket. In order for him to achieve a real gain, his wages must rise at double or triple the rate of inflation, and even then inflation's double jeopardy trap inflicts some damage.

If we can erase taxation, we can begin to get a grip on double-digit inflation. Together with other economic reforms, tax indexing can fit into a coherent strategy with which to fight rising prices.

What do you say to the president-elect of the United States?

That was the dilemma facing me last week when I attended, along with nine other members of the Congresswoman's Caucus, a luncheon at the request of President-elect Reagan at Washington's historic Blair House. My solution? To speak to an issue affecting the lives of all Mainers: energy.

I was pleased and honored to accept Gov. Reagan's invitation for lunch. The guest list for the affair was impressive. Seated next to me in the splendid dining room was Vice President-elect George Bush, who spoke fondly of his summer residence in Kennebunkport and who related to me his intention to begin renovations of the Bush family compound.

Also attending in addition to 16 women members of Congress and Senators were United Nations Ambassador-designate Jeanne Kirkpatrick, former Ambassador to Great Britain Anne Armstrong, top Reagan administration aides James Baker and Edwin Meese and other dignitaries.

The President-elect, whose election was confirmed by the House of Representatives on Jan. 6, addressed the group briefly and then took time out from his busy schedule to speak with many of us individually. During his comments, Gov. Reagan stressed his intention to keep lines of communication open between the White House and the Congress on women's issues. He announced that his administration will include two staff members responsible for issues affecting the family in America, and he reiterated earlier pledges to establish a commission to examine state laws and regulations which are discriminatory on the basis of sex.

Later, I had the opportunity to speak with Gov. Reagan personally for a few minutes. It was my first conversation with the new Chief Executive since he visited Maine for a campaign dinner in the spring of 1978.

My immediate question for the President-elect concerned his plans for establishment of an energy policy for the nation. He quickly responded that his top priority in terms of energy would be for the nation to achieve total independence from the debilitating stranglehold exerted by OPEC over oil supplies.

Gov. Reagan then told me that he believes that the United States government has been an impediment to the development of domestic energy resources. The best way to cure this problem, he felt, is to redirect the government's energy policies toward freeing domestic energy supplies for production. He also stated that tax incentives for energy-producing companies would stimulate domestic production and would get the country moving toward energy independence.

I then quizzed the President-elect on the concept of regional energy programs, based on the particular needs of different areas of the country. Specifically, I asked him whether he would support the idea of creating tax credits for wood-burning stoves in the energy-starved Northeast.

The idea is not a new one. Dur-

BETHEL HISTORICAL SOCIETY ANNOUNCES MOSES MASON ESSAY CONTEST

The competition for the 1981 Moses Mason Award has been announced by the Bethel Historical Society. The contest is open to Gould Academy and Telstar Regional High School students, grades 9-12. To be considered, the student must submit an original essay of at least 500 but not more than 3,000 words based on primary sources discussing a local subject (confined to Oxford County). Photographs may be included in the submission but are not essential.

All essays should be submitted to the principal of the school on or before Friday, May 1, 1981, and will be judged on the clarity of style and nature of the content. Judges will be an impartial committee appointed by the President of the Bethel Historical Society whose decision will be final.

The award consisting of a handsome certificate suitable for framing as well as a $100 savings bond will be made during the appropriate ceremony at the end of the school year.

Information on the contest can be picked up by the students at the library of the respective school or at the Bethel Historical Society's headquarters, the Moses Mason House during the week, Monday through Friday, 9-5. Any questions should be directed to the Society by calling 824-2908.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATING TOURNAMENT AT UMO FEB. 6-7

The University of Maine at Orono's Wofford G. Gardner Debate Tournament for Maine high school debaters will be held Feb. 6 and 7. The proposition for tournament discussion centers on whether or not the federal government should initiate and enforce safety guarantees on consumer goods. Deadline for entries is Monday, Feb. 2, according to Dr. Ray E. McKerrrow of the UMO speech communication department which has sponsored the tournament for 33 years.

ing my first term, I co-sponsored legislation to establish tax credits for certain wood- and peat-burning stoves. The concept never got off the ground with the Carter administration, but President-elect Reagan said he would support such a move. I intend to hold the President-elect to his statement, and I have drafted a letter to Treasury Secretary-designate Donald Regan asking him to make this issue a top priority for the new term.

The President-elect also told me that he plans to reveal specific plans to speed the recovery of our ailing economy early in February. The best social program, he said, is to provide every American with a job. And, he said, no individual or group will be left behind in his economic plans.

The Reagan administration is eager to get the transition period behind them and to get on with the nation's business. I wholeheartedly agree.

CRESCENT PARK SCHOOL

"TEAMING-UP FOR FUN 'N FITNESS"

Crescent Park School in Bethel is participating in the national "Post Fun 'n Fitness Program." Since the last of November, students in Shirley Merrill's third and fourth grade class have been urging C.P.S. students, staff, family, friends and other community members to help them collect points from proof-of-purchase seals on certain breakfast products. These points can be exchanged for free athletic equipment for the school. Letters concerning the programs were sent out to all C.P.S. parents and students took letters to various businesses in the Bethel and Greenwood area.

Bob Griese, all-pro quarterback of the Miami Dolphins, and a strong supporter of good athletic programs, is the National Program Director. Believing that it is vital to develop a love of exercise and physical fitness among young people, he feels honored to be associated with a program that encourages good nutrition and physical fitness by offering athletic equipment for kids at no cost to schools.

The breakfast foods that contain the special fun 'n fitness seals worth points are: (1) Post Cereals—seal on side of box; (2) Log Cabin Pancake and Waffle Mix—seal on side of box; (3) Log Cabin Syrup—seal on back of front label; (4) Wonder Bread—seal on wrapper; (5) Birds Eye "Awake" Drink—seal is white plastic tear strip; (6) Birds Eye "Orange Plus" Drink—seal is white plastic tear strip. These products are clearly marked with "Team-Up for Fun 'n Fitness" banners on the package fronts.

Ms. Merrill's class is heading the campaign for their school. Students collect, count, and record how many points have been collected. A bulletin board display and thermometer chart that shows collection progress greet people in the front hall of the school. At press release a total of 160 points had been collected.

What kind of equipment can Crescent Park get from this program? The most expensive item is a playground physical fitness climber for 50,050 points. The least expensive is a ball inflating needle for 75 points. Almost anything one can think of for gym, playground, and sports game equipment is available for the school to get, if it can come up with the points.

Ms. Merrill began working in the national Post program with the goal that all nine classrooms at C.P.S. would be equipped with two playground balls, a basketball, and a soccer ball each. This would re-

The news of the week once again seems to be sickness and the weather. Sunday the temperature did not get about 2° above and at five in the evening Monday it is 8° above. When it does warm up a little we have cloudy weather, usually with snow squalls, then winds and cold weather.

Ben Gordon was up last week getting in some skiing. He stayed at the Norseman but while here took a walk to his cabin on the mountain and visited folks on the road.

Wednesday, Frank Benson came home from the hospital, and Charles Mason, Jr., plowed out the doorways Frank usually does. One night Corry Bonney of North Paris visited Frank. Davis and Sharon Kimball, Anita and Chantel, of Waterville visited Sharon's parents, Saturday, and Sunday Bradley and Fern Benson visited his parents.

Mrs. Robert McCoy is now at Ledgeview Nursing Home. She went in last Tuesday. Sam McCoy went into Androscoggin Valley Hospital, Berlin, N. H., as he has been flat in bed since Wednesday with back trouble.

Minnie Wilson is now in a nursing home in Stillwater as the home she was in partially burned because of a chimney fire.

Sunday callers on Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lapham were Myra and Jesse Doyen, Bethel, and Mr. and Mrs. William Helm, Andover.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Butters went to Lovell to her sister-in-law's, Mrs. Marion Rodgersson, and also stopped into Jennie Adams'.

Kristy Angevine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine, stayed Sunday night with Susan Gould. Billy, Betsy and Justin Shimamura spent Saturday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shimamura, and Jody.

Winfield Adams of North Lovell visited at Mr. and Mrs. Lester Butters one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy went to North Conway, N. H., Saturday.

Thursday I went to get Frankie and Teresa and then Aunt Sara in Albany. Left Frankie and Teresa at Mr. and Mrs. George Allen's. Aunt Sara and I went into Norway and then we all had dinner at the folks. I took everyone home. I was quire 1,345 points per classroom or a total of 12,105 points for all nine rooms.

"We can collect points until June 30, 1981," says Ms. Merrill. "If we all eat Post, Log Cabin, Wonder and Birds Eye breakfast foods for the next six months, perhaps we can go past our goal and have enough points to get baseball and softball equipment, gym mats and lots of other materials that kids could make good use of. It's generous of these companies to offer a program that provides a way for us to eat a nutritious breakfast and at the same time earn points that will give free equipment to our school. I am very enthusiastic about it," she adds.

Crescent Park School greatly appreciates community support in their fun 'n fitness program. All proof of purchase seals can be brought to Ms. Merrill's room or sent in by C.P.S. students. Friends and relatives from outside the Bethel area have even mailed seals to the school. "Everyone is welcome to start eating and saving for us," commented Ms. Merrill. "If we all 'team-up' in this project what good news we'll have when we turn our points in for equipment in June!"

We're keeping really busy here staying warm and having fun, continuing with our theme from last week of caring and sharing. Some of the activities we're sharing are the housekeeping area, blocks, water table, easel painting, cutting and pasting, and going outside on the days that aren't too cold. The children who didn't visit the Bethel Library for story hour last week will be going on Thursday.

Special thanks to our recent volunteers: Connie Tripp and Elsie Bonney, and we're happy to welcome Terri Heath as our new cook's helper. Hooray!

The clamp had broken on my hose and lost all my anti-freeze. George found out his clutch had gone Sunday and Monday when he and Doug Smith were putting in the clutch they found the spring had gone.

Success

Success is speaking words of praise, In cheering other people's ways, In doing just the best you can, With every task and every plan, It's silence when your speech would hurt, Politeness when your neighbor's curt.

It's deafness when the scandal flows, And sympathy with others' woes, It's loyalty when duty calls, It's courage when disaster falls, It's patience when the hours are long, It's found in laughter and in song, It's in the silent time of prayer, In happiness and in despair, In all of life and nothing less, We find the thing we call success.

SOLAR FACTS

by Robert E. Lewis

A LOOK AT SOLAR ENERGY

Solar energy is the heat that comes from the sun. This energy is produced at the sun's core, which can be likened to a gigantic thermonuclear furnace.

Every second this thermonuclear furnace converts more than 4 million tons of the sun's matter into energy. This energy is then radiated throughout the universe in the form of heat and light.

While our planet receives just a small portion of the sun's total energy output, we are unable to capture all of the solar energy that reaches the earth's atmosphere.

One-third of the sun's radiation is reflected back to space from the clouds and atmospheric dust. Another 10 to 15% is absorbed by the atmosphere's water vapor, carbon dioxide and ozone. That leaves us with approximately 50% of the total solar radiation available to this planet.

Even though the earth's surface captures only one-half of the available solar radiation, the potential of this energy source is astounding. If we could fully utilize all of the sunshine falling on the earth's surface during a single day, the entire world's energy needs could be satisfied for 15 years!

To better use the sunlight that is available to us requires concentrating the sun's rays. Although we often think of sunlight as being intensely bright and hot, the sun does not actually deliver much energy to any single spot at any particular moment. In addition, the amount of solar energy radiated to any one place on earth depends on the time of day, season, latitude and weather conditions.

Solar energy technology, then, is based on developing devices that can concentrate the sun's rays so they can be harnessed for domestic use.

In the United States, modern research on ways to use solar energy began in the 1930s. In 1954, scientists formed the Association of Applied Solar Energy to investigate methods of employing the sun's energy for domestic use.

By the 1960s, solar energy homes were appearing around the country. And in 1974, following the fuel shortages and price escalations caused by the Arab oil embargo, Congress called for a vigorous solar energy research program to further develop this promising technology.

Today, the use of solar energy to heat our homes is a part of modern living. More than 40,000 homes around the country currently use solar energy systems to provide substantial portions of their heating needs. Some of these solar heating systems rely on hardware and mechanical equipment to collect and distribute heat (active systems). Others rely only on the building's architectural design elements and its orientation toward the sun (passive systems).

By the year 2000, more than 20 million American homes and untold thousands of commercial buildings will be using solar energy systems to meet their energy needs.

In future columns, we will explore the various ways that solar energy is being used in our daily lives. This will include discussions of solar concepts, types of solar energy systems, new solar products and materials, legislative and community programs involving solar energy, and a look at some of the ways to convert a traditional home into a solar home.

In the meantime, you can learn more about harnessing solar energy by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Robert E. Lewis, (#1-A) P. O. Box 3680, Grand Central Station, New York, N. Y. 10017.

POLICE EMERGENCY NUMBER NOT TO BE USED TO INQUIRE ABOUT ROAD CONDITIONS

Citizens are asked to refrain from using Maine State Police emergency toll free telephone numbers when checking winter road conditions.

"We would like to keep the emergency lines clear for those citizens who have a police emergency situation—such as, reporting a traffic accident, a crime in progress or information about a crime committed," said Colonel Allan H. Weeks, Chief of the Maine State Police.

Citizens calling to the state police for information on winter road conditions should use the troop barracks regular listed number, said Weeks.

In addition, winter road condition information may be obtained by calling one of the Maine Department of Transportation (MDOT) Bureau of Highway division offices, listed in the telephone book or on MDOT's free Maine transportation map.

The Maine Automobile Association has a telephone number, 774-6384, that citizens can call as early as 6:15 a. m. for Maine and New England winter road condition reports.

HOUSEHOLDS HERE INCLUDED IN NATIONWIDE CENSUS SURVEY ON EMPLOYMENT

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of Jan. 19-23, 1981, according to an announcement by Arthur G. Dukakis, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Boston.

The survey is conducted for the U. S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 84,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in November the survey indicated that of the 105.3 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 97.4 million were employed. The jobless rate was approximately 7.5% for the third month in a row.

Information supplied by people participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

APPARENT PHONY BILLING SCHEME SWEEPING STATE

Maine businesses and hospitals have been warned by the Maine Attorney General's Office of what appears to be a phony billing scheme sweeping the state. Hundreds of Maine hospitals and businesses have recently received invoices from a California-based company for services never requested.

According to Assistant Attorney General Cheryl Harrington, Chief of the Consumer and Antitrust Division, Compliance Consultants of San Francisco has sent invoices to every Maine hospital and several Maine businesses billing them for goods and services never ordered. New Hampshire hospitals have also reported receiving the same invoices. The amounts involved, Ms. Harrington said, have been under $100, usually in the $69 to $89 range.

"This appears to be a classic phony billing scheme," Ms. Harrington said. "The amounts involved are small enough so as not to arouse suspicion, and the services purportedly rendered are so vaguely described that a bookkeeper

VOTEC PRACTICAL NURSES SUCCEED IN NATIONAL TESTING PROGRAM

President Edward Oleson of New Hampshire VoTech College-Berlin was recently notified that 100% of last June's graduates of the Practical Nursing program successfully completed the mandatory licensing exams. The State Board Test Pool Examination is administered nationally to those who wish to become Licensed Practical Nurses, and the results of that exam are recognized by 48 of the 50 states.

"We're very pleased with the results this year," stated Oleson, "as it represents a continuation of the solid record of success that the Practical Nurse program has built since it was started at the College in 1968-69. In those 12 years, we have a success rate of 98%. The licensing exams have a minimum passing score of 350 and 58% of Berlin's graduates have scored above 500 on these exams."

Since the inception of the PN program, 240 women and men representing nearly every community in the North Country have completed Berlin's program. The PN program is an intensive 44 weeks of classroom, laboratory, and clinical study for the 24 students who enter each June. Co-operating agencies have included B. D. Weeks Hospital in Lancaster; Androscoggin Valley Hospital, St. Vincent dePaul and Coos County Nursing Homes, Tri-County Head Start, and White Mountain Day Care Center, all in Berlin, as well as the Berlin School and Health Departments.

Tania Jean Collette
Gregory Neil Merrill

Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Collette, Sr., of South Paris, announce the engagement of their daughter, Tania Jean, to Gregory Neil Merrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Merrill of Bethel.

Miss Collette graduated from Oxford Hills High School and is employed in the Dietary Dept. of Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Merrill is a graduate of Teistar Regional High School and New Hampshire Vocational Technical College in Berlin, N. H. He is now employed at Maine Machine Products Co., South Paris.

A Feb. 14 wedding is planned.

er would never know if it was something the business would not be likely to order.

Ms. Harrington said every recipient of an invoice has been billed for the same service: "1980-81 Compliance Requirements." The charge on some bills is $69 and on others $79 or $89. All bills contain entries for "Form Analysis and Instruction," and "Schedule of 1981 Critical Dates." Both items are listed as "No Charge."

The alleged scheme was brought to the attention of the Attorney General's office by the Maine Hospital Association and several businesses. The astute work of their bookkeepers uncovered the false invoices.

"Businesses who have received such invoices should carefully review them," Ms. Harrington advised. "If any business has paid such a bill it should stop payment on its check."

Ms. Harrington said Postal Authorities and the California Attorney General's Office have both been notified of the alleged scheme. She applauded the diligence and assistance of Maine businesses who brought the scheme to her office's attention.
